A Bit About Us...

The African American Faculty and Staff Association was founded by John Anderson, a custodian at Cal State Fullerton in the late 1960's. The purpose of forming this organization was to bridge the gap between faculty and staff, develop a system of advocacy for employees of African descent and to bring African/African American cultural activities to Cal State Fullerton. The Black Faculty and Staff Association later changed its name to African American Faculty and Staff Association and expanded its goals to include increasing African American student enrollment and retention and to aid students in their scholarly and cultural development. Today, the African American Faculty and Staff Association sponsor activities such as:

- Multicultural Mentor Project
- Dialogues and Literary Discussions
- Student Scholarships
- Pan African Student Recognition Ceremony
- Black History Month Celebration
- Social and Networking Events for Faculty & Staff Members

The African American Faculty and Staff Association takes pride in its talented membership and works diligently for the betterment of African American faculty, staff and students at Cal State Fullerton

Announcing:

African American Resource Center

The mission of the African American Resource Center (AARC) is to advance research and knowledge of the history, culture, contributions, and experiences of African Americans, Africans, and all people of African descent. The Center's purpose will help to advance knowledge and understanding of the Black experience. The AARC will provide resources and sponsor programs and activities to advance student learning, scholarly activity, and cross-cultural education and awareness.

The African American Resource Center will function for students as a point of connection with the University's resources, including the tools for Library research. It will serve as a vehicle for outreach to potential African American students, and it will seek to participate as a partner in institutional grants. It will contribute to efforts to recruit African American faculty by signaling the University's priorities in a concrete way.

Dr. Julie E. Stokes, the newly appointed Director for the African American Resource Center is seeking individuals interested in contributing the development, operation, and promotion of the AARC's mission, goals, and Vision!!! The Grand Opening is Monday, February 28, 2005 from noon-2pm in front of Humanities Building and moving the center at Humanities 222.

Those interested in contributing to this historic opportunity should contact Dr. Stokes at (714) 278-3485 for more information or jstokes@fullerton.edu
