

A Co-curricular Education (ACE) Trainings

Fall 2010

Benefits of Training

The department of Student Life Programs and Services - Dean of Students Office believes that training is essential to student success. We feel it is important that students understand and learn how to manage their involvement effectively to assist with future goals. Students will learn how to incorporate ACE 5-Step Process into their everyday CSUF experiences and the importance of skill recognition and development. These trainings will provide students with assistance in documenting involvement and gaining a clear understanding of the benefits of Co-curricular involvement.

Why Should I Attend?

Students who attend these workshops will receive materials and additional advising that will assist them in accomplishing their personal educational goals. Learn techniques to better prepare and encourage active involvement. Take part in an instructional tutorial session of how to utilize the ACE website and its many resources.
