Reaching for the Dream: Undocumented Students Then and Now
Learn from a panel of professionals about the success and challenges faced navigating through school as undocumented students. Panelists will also discuss how their immigration status informed their career paths. It is a great opportunity to learn about undocumented students’ resiliency in pursuit of a higher education and a fulfilling career. The audience will get a chance to ask the panelists questions.

Community Wellbeing: An Asset-Based Approach to Diversity Work
Diversity workshops often focus on "we are more alike than we are different" or underscore difference and disadvantage, but rarely consider how non-dominant social identities can be a site of possibility. This presentation takes a critical look at diversity, by examining the assets of non-dominant social identities. It describes and demonstrates a framework to engage in social justice or diversity work, and ultimately transform higher education by increasing equitable outcomes. This interactive workshop will be facilitated by Yazmin Duarte, Mashonda Salsberry, Dr. Maria Oropeza Fujimoto, and Dr. Eugene Fujimoto.

Step Up! Bystander Intervention
Presented by: CSUF Step Up! Peer Facilitators
Ever wonder why someone didn’t help, and then you realized you are someone?
Learn the 5 steps to the bystander decision making process. With 1 in 5 women and 1 in 16 men at risk for sexual violence on college campuses, we are dedicated to inspiring our Titans to be the difference, not simply the bystander! If not you, then who?
