REEL WORLD

Tuesday | November 18
5:00pm
WakeMan Seminar Room | University Hall 205
Reel World: "Won't Back Down"
Facilitated Discussion with Alisia Kirkwood, Coordinator, Volunteered and Services Programs (2012, women in leadership roles, grassroots advocacy)

Two determined mothers, one a teacher, look to transform their children’s failing inner city school. Facing a powerful and entrenched bureaucracy, these empowered women risk everything to make a difference in the education and future of their children.

Tuesday | November 18
12:00—1:00 pm
WakeMan Seminar Room | University Hall 205
Thinking Beyond the Binary
Presented by: Dr. Joy Hoffman, Diversity Initiatives and Resource Centers and Dr. Karyl Ketchum, Department of Women and Gender Studies
A panel of educators will speak to their experiences with gender, gender identity, and/or gender expression. A facilitated discussion following the panel will encourage participants to identify ways they can positively influence the CSUF community by promoting gender inclusion.

Wednesday | November 19
12:00—1:00 pm
WakeMan Seminar Room | University Hall 205
Understanding Gender Chat
Presented by: Rosalina Camacho, WoMen’s and Adult Reentry Center
Come discuss the power of words. Often times, speakers can convey an unintended message through a poor choice of words. This workshop will challenge the way we think about language and examine some common gender-specific words we use very day in conversations.

Thursday | November 20
12:00—1:00 pm
Chicana/o Resource Center
Mental Health and Wellness: How to Deal with Stress
Many students experience stress in college. Issues of poor time management skills, performance, work, and other aspects of the college experience can increase the stress level of students. Students will learn about the role stress plays in one’s life and recognize techniques that students can do at home that will help them relax and cope with stress.

Asian Pacific American Resource Center
Wednesday | November 19
2:00—3:00 pm
APARC Conference Room, University Hall 210B
Colorism: Skin Tone, Status, and Inequality
"Colorism or skin color stratification is a process that privileges light-skinned people of color over dark in areas such as income, education, housing, and the marriage market" (Hunter, 2007). This discussion looks at varying skin tones within the API community and why certain skin tones are valued or accepted more than others.

There will be no classes and our centers will be closed the week of November 24–28, 2014. Campus will be closed November 27 & 28, 2014. Have a great Fall Recess! Our newsletter will resume December 1st, 2014.
