

South Coast Air Quality Management District (AQMD), one of the most technologically sophisticated environmental regulatory agencies in the nation, is headquartered in Diamond Bar, California (30 miles east of downtown L.A.). Our highly diverse staff of approximately 800 employees works hard to ensure clean air and a healthful environment for the 16 million people who live in the four-county region that we serve.

We have critical vacancies for AIR QUALITY INSPECTORS and are writing to ask your help in getting the word out! After extensive training, our air quality inspectors conduct field inspections and investigations of commercial and industrial sources to ensure compliance with air pollution rules, regulations and statutes. Obviously, inspectors are critical to the success of our mission, so we need top-notch candidates!

Our inspectors earn from $3,947 to $4,889 per month (DOQ), work a 4/10 work schedule, and have a great benefits package! As this is an entry-level position, directly related education is required, but experience is not! The most desirable candidates will have a degree in chemistry, mathematics, physics, environmental science, engineering, or a related field, such as the physical sciences. Candidates must also have strong interpersonal skills and be clear and diplomatic communicators. As a career choice, there are many promotional opportunities ahead and a chance to contribute directly to improving the air we breathe!

The only way to apply for these is to come to one of the tests outlined in the posting at www.aqmd.gov, with all required materials.
