

2025-2026 FAR Faculty Fellow
Alison Marzocchi, Mathematics

Dr. Alison Marzocchi is a professor in the mathematics department and began her role as a FAR Faculty Fellow in Summer 2025. Marzocchi is passionate about faculty mentoring and cultivating communities for faculty across all ranks. She interfaces frequently with diverse faculty through her roles as a Faculty Development Center Writing Across the Curriculum Faculty Fellow, a principal investigator on a National Science Foundation faculty professional development grant, and a Fulbright Scholar. Marzocchi cares deeply about faculty rights and has facilitated several workshops on faculty self-advocacy. She has served on the mathematics department personnel committee and department peer review committee (including three years as chair). She has served on and chaired her department's diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) committee, as well as her college-level DEI committee and several university-level DEI committees. Marzocchi strives to bring efficiency, transparency, and fairness to her work as a FAR Faculty Fellow.
