

Want to get into medical, physician assistant or physical therapy school?

Get what it takes with Des Moines University's FREE Health P.A.S.S.

Des Moines University's new Health Professions Advanced Summer Scholars Program – the Health P.A.S.S. – is a great way to prepare for and enhance your chances of getting into medical or health professions school. Offered for the first time July 11-30, 2010, the program is high-quality, hands-on and FREE.

As a DMU Health P.A.S.S. Program participant, you will find out what it's like to be a medical, PA or PT student as you ...

- ✓ Learn from lectures and presentations in four clinical areas: osteopathic medicine, podiatric medicine and surgery, physical therapy and physician assistant studies
- ✓ Enjoy hands-on experiences in DMU's state-of-the-art facilities, including its simulation center with highly lifelike medical mannequins
- ✓ Role-play and interact with individuals trained to act as real patients in DMU's Standardized Performance Assessment Laboratory
- ✓ Shadow doctors and other care providers in the DMU Clinic on campus
- ✓ Become certified in cardiopulmonary resuscitation
- ✓ Learn how to plan for medical/health professions school and participate in mock interviews to enhance your preparation, confidence and success
- ✓ Benefit from informal interactions with DMU faculty, students and staff

In addition, Des Moines University will give you a travel stipend and cover the full costs of your meals, materials and residence hall housing at nearby Drake University.

Enrollment is limited to 10 students. Preference will be given to qualified applicants from populations under-represented in medicine and health care, including minority, low-income and/or first-generation college students. You must have a minimum cumulative college grade point average of 3.0 to participate.

All application materials are due to Des Moines University no later than February 1, 2010.
