Immunizations Information: Academic Year 2016-2017

Immunizations offer safe and effective protection from vaccine-preventable diseases. The United States is experiencing re-emergence of these diseases, in part due to factors such as un-immunized and under-immunized persons and global travel. The American College Health Association (ACHA) strongly supports the use of vaccines to protect the health of our individual students and our campus communities. Before you start college, you should make sure that you are up-to-date on all immunizations including the following: measles, mumps, rubella; tetanus, diphtheria, pertussis; varicella; and hepatitis B. In addition, students living in on-campus housing are recommended to get the meningococcal conjugate vaccine. For additional information, please visit the Center for Disease Control and Prevention’s website, www.cdc.gov or contact the Student Health and Counseling Center.

What you should know about meningococcal disease:

- Meningococcal (me-nin-je-kok-ul) disease is a serious illness caused by bacteria that can infect the blood or areas around the brain and spinal cord. Infection can lead to brain damage, disability, and rapid death.
- Meningitis is the most common form of meningococcal disease. Common symptoms of meningitis include stiff neck, headache, and high fever.
- College freshmen, particularly those who live in dorms, are more likely to get the disease. About 100 cases occur on U.S. college campuses each year, resulting in 5-15 deaths.
- Meningococcal vaccine can protect against four of the five most common groups of bacteria that cause meningococcal disease.

The meningococcal conjugate vaccine is recommended for college freshmen living in on-campus student housing.

I have reviewed this information and I intend to receive the meningococcal vaccine.

I have reviewed this information and I do not intend to receive the meningococcal vaccine.
