Who is a first generation college student?
An undergraduate student who is the first in their family to attend college.

32.4% of undergraduate students identify as the first in their family to attend college.

Information to determine if a student is first generation is collected at the time of application.
Terminology used in this document is adopted from IPEDS.
For a full list of definitions, visit: www.fullerton.edu/data/institutionalresearch/glossary/
For more information on CSUF's Student Profile, visit: www.fullerton.edu/data/institutionalresearch/facts