Titan Athletics

FAMILIAR TERRITORY
It’s gotten to the point where Titan fans almost take it for granted, but both the men’s and women’s soccer programs found themselves back in the NCAA Tournament after each captured their respective Big West Tournament titles. Head coach George Kuntz has now led the men’s side to the NCAA postseason in three of the past four seasons, while head coach Demian Brown has led his squad to the dance in four of the past five campaigns.

YES, YOU CAN SAY IT
The Cal State Fullerton softball program is officially in the midst of a dynasty, as the Titans cruised to their third consecutive Big West Conference championship. To make the accomplishment even sweeter, Fullerton was just able to get past second place rival Long Beach State. The dominating run back to the NCAA postseason earned head coach Kelly Ford her third straight Big West Coach of the Year honor.

DANCIN’ IN DETROIT
For the first time since 2008, Cal State Fullerton basketball was a part of the biggest party in sports, as the Titans qualified for the NCAA Tournament after running through the Big West Conference Tournament. It marked Fullerton’s third ever trip to the big dance and just the seventh 20-win season in school history.

BACK-TO-BACK
It took 29 years for head coach John Elders to get his first one, but now he’s two for his last two, as Fullerton men’s Track and Field took home its second consecutive Big West crown. This year the Titans were able to do it on enemy territory, as they stood above the rest up in Northridge.
No Doubt About It

The 2017–18 academic year was the best year in Cal State Fullerton Athletics history. The Titans claimed the Big West Commissioner’s Cup title — an award given out yearly to the conference’s winningest athletics department based on league titles and top finishes — for the first time in school history. Cal State Fullerton is the first Cup champion other than Long Beach State or UC Santa Barbara since former member Pacific won the first two Cups from 1998-2000.
FACTS & FIGURES
As a part of the Student Success Initiative, Athletics has committed to improving its Baseball and Softball facilities. The department is in the process of receiving $10 million over a five-year span. These funds will be used to construct new locker rooms, renovate coaches’ offices, laundry facilities and meeting rooms. Campus has begun the process of selecting an architect to design the new upgrades.

DOWN BUT NOT OUT
It might have been one of the more unlikely postseason runs in Titan baseball history, but after a discouraging 1-7, Cal State Fullerton did what Cal State Fullerton does year in and year out. The Titans claimed their 30th league crown and went back to the postseason for the 27th straight season, falling just one victory shy of their 19th trip to the College World Series.
Ticket Sales

Athletics Tickets saw an overall increase in ticket sales totaling $560,494 in 2017–18. Tickets for home events are sold for eight of the Titans’ 15 sports.

Over the last five years, ticket sales have brought in $2,330,625.

46% increase since 2012-13

Titan Athletics Development

The Titan Athletics Development team raised over $2 million during the 2016-17 school year. Over the last five years, athletics has raised just under $5.2 million and has established a letter winner’s club with more than 250 members. This year the Folino Invitational Golf Tournament brought in over $200,000 for a second consecutive time, while Dinner with the Titans netted more than $140,000.
