

SENATE FORUM

Volume XXVI, Number 3, Spring 2011 A publication of the Academic Senate, California State University, Fullerton

Inside this issue...

Moving to Moodle: The New Era of Learning Management Systems

Amir Dabirian and Sean Walker

Technological Innovation and Changing Roles of the Professoriate

Lynda Randall

Teaching and Learning with 21st Century Titans

Andrea Guillaume

The Importance of Collaboration in Research

Melanie Horn Mallers

Librarians, Faculty, and the Google Generation: Enhancing Student Research through Collaboration

Michael Demars

On Doing It Because We Can: Linking Online Instruction to University Goals

Jon Brusckke

SENATE FORUM

The Senate Forum is a publication of the Academic Senate at California State University, Fullerton. It is designed to stimulate discussion, debate, and understanding of a variety of important issues that the Senate addresses. Individuals are encouraged to respond to the materials contained in the Senate Forum or to submit their own contributions.

Editor

Peggy B. Shoar, Child & Adolescent Studies

Editorial Board

John W. Bedell, Sociology; Diana Wright Guerin, Child & Adolescent Studies and Academic Senate Chair; David Kelman, English and Comparative Literature; Kathleen Wright, Accounting