Fall 2018
Writing across the Curriculum
Lunch and Learns at the FDC

Who?: The WAC Program, the FDC, and Academic Programs
What?: WAC Lunch and Learns
When?: Third Thursdays of Sept., Oct., and Nov., from 12-1
Where?: The FDC, in room PLS 260C.
Why?: Because teaching with writing improves student learning.

What is a WAC Lunch and Learn?
Formal or informal, graded or ungraded, online or in person, writing tasks in any class can increase student learning. WAC Lunch and Learns create a collaborative space for faculty working to incorporate writing into their courses. Bring a syllabus, assignment prompt, or other promising course activity to share. We’ll brainstorm strategies for integrating writing into your document. Join us for lunch and leave with new ideas for teaching with writing.

WAC Program Mission:
The WAC Program aims to improve writing and learning across campus, to support faculty as they integrate writing into their courses, and to create a campus culture that values writing and the ways writing can enhance learning.
