

2025-2026 FAR Faculty Fellow
Christina Barbieri, American Studies

Christina Barbieri is a lecturer in the American Studies Department. She is a dedicated advocate for faculty rights and success, with a particular passion for supporting and uniting lecturers in the academic community. In recent years, she has focused on revitalizing the Lecturer Council, aiming to foster stronger connections and a sense of community among lecturers across various departments. Through this initiative, she has worked to ensure that their voices are heard and valued.

Currently, Christina serves as a member of the state-wide bargaining team, where she works with a diverse team in negotiating a more inclusive and fair Collective Bargaining Agreement. Her role as a FAR Faculty Fellow 2025-2026 reflects her commitment to creating a more equitable and supportive environment for all faculty, ensuring that their rights and contributions are acknowledged and respected within the academic system.

Christina also serves on the executive board of the CSUF CFA union as the chapter treasurer. When she is not advocating for faculty rights, Christina is gardening, walking her dogs or being bossed around by her 6-year-old daughter.
