Face Coverings
All residents are required to wear face coverings when outside of their assigned apartment. This includes, but is not limited to laundry rooms, common spaces, the Gastronome, and the Housing and Residential Engagement Office.

Failure to Comply
All residents are expected to comply with all University policies, procedures, guidelines, and presidential directives, including without limitation those issued specifically with regard to the COVID-19 pandemic. Failure to do so may result in disciplinary action up to and including eviction.

Guests
Due to COVID-19 and in alignment with federal, state, and local health agency recommendations, no off-campus guests are allowed in any residence halls, apartments, and/or common spaces within the Student Housing community. In addition, guests from other residence halls and/or apartments within Housing and Residential Engagement are not permitted to be in buildings in which they are not assigned to live. No overnight guests are permitted at any time.

Residents are allowed to gather with other residents who live in their same building within Student Housing as long as those gatherings are in accordance with federal, state, and local guidelines related to social distancing, including regarding the number of individuals within a group.

Isolation/Quarantine
All residents are expected to comply with any directive from a University or county public health official requiring them to isolate and/or quarantine due to exposure or testing positive for COVID-19. Housing and Residential Engagement will work with residents who receive these directives to ensure they are able to comply. Due to the significant impact on the community’s health and safety if these directives are not followed, residents who fail to comply with University and/or county public health official directives will be evicted from Student Housing.
